SOMEBODY PLAYS TO GRANDSTAND IN LIQUOR "REVOLT"

Both Dalrymple and McDonough Admit Someone Acts for Applaud.

Michigan Hotel.

Iron River, Mich., Feb. 26.—The armed force of federal agents under command of A. V. Dalrymple, who came here from Chicago to "put down a liquor rebellion in the upper Michigan peninsula," today had been withdrawn and the "revolt" itself had flickered out. The only casualties were nine barrels of home made wine taken by revenue agents from a parish priest's house, where the state had stored it for safe keeping and poured it into the snow.

Major Dalrymple's announcement of intentions to arrest states attorney M. S. McDonough and county and Iron River officials as parties to the "rebellion" was abandoned under orders from C. F. Kramer, nature prohibition commissioner, directing withdrawal of the "invaders."

H. B. Gaylord, assistant chief of prohibition enforcement, was enroute from Washington to Iron River to make an investigation, demanded by Attorney McDonough, who insists there was no "revolt" and charged that his constituency had been questioned by Dalrymple's reports.

McDonough and Dalrymple had a conference in a lobby of a hotel here. Mutual accusations of "grandstanding" and "publicity seeking" were made and McDonough threatened to arrest the major and put him in jail. He made a move to "start something." There were many witnesses to the conference, among whom was the Iron River chief of police, who held a warrant for Dalrymple's arrest. The warrant, however, was not served. The conference was carried on in anger but at its conclusion McDonough and Dalrymple posed, side by side, for the cameramen. Dalrymple announced he would go to Washington to lay the facts before Commissioner "Kramer."

The dialogue between McDonough and Dalrymple which was their only conference, took place in the big room of the hotel which served as a lobby. In the room were crowded a hundred or more citizens who had followed McDonough and several members of the federal agents party.

When Major Dalrymple had emerged from the dining room at McDonough's request and the preliminary hand shaking had been accomplished the prosecuting attorney plunged right into the subject uppermost in the minds of all.

"I have come here to issue a warning to you, Mr. Dalrymple," he said. "I have read about the various things you plan to do to quell the whiskey revolt as you call it. What I want to tell you is this:

"If you or any of your men attempt to arrest me or my aids, without due process of law, I will take you and your entire party into custody immediately and I am prepared to do so. Now get this right, you will arrest you and your men and lock you up, and put you where you belong, Mr. Dalrymple."

The major retorted:

"I don't want to get a lecture from you and this is entirely unnecessary. I have come here for the purpose of enforcing the law. And I think this is a high handed grandstand play."

"You are a natural grandstander, yourself," McDonough countered.

"You have been playing to the public press and have said things which have been an outrageous affront to this community. When you declare there has been a whiskey revolt, you lie."

"Now that you are here, if you have any arrests to make just start something. You have not scared or cowed any one here."

To this Mr. Dalrymple replied:

"I do not care to discuss the matter with you. I will continue my course of action and see it through. I will enforce the law."

At this point a motion picture operator interrupted to say:

"Just a moment major stand up a little closer to Mr. McDonough and pose for a picture please."

"Of course he will," declared McDonough. "The likes of him are not to be kept still," requested the camera man.

"That's what they do up here," purred the major.

"More of your city ways," fensed McDonough.

"This picture taking—I'm not used to it."

"You're a better actor than I," replied Dalrymple.

"I've agreed the attorney, "and you'll find I'm a bad actor. As for you, you are naturally a movie power. As a matter of fact, Mr. Dalrymple, I don't believe you have quite as much guts as when you got off the train last night. President Wilson quoted you as saying in a telegram to superior officers, that this community was in rebellion against the government. If you did say it, it is a lie."

And about some more words of similar conversation accompanied the click of the movie camera and then the two officers parted—one to return to his office followed by a huge knot of citizens, and the other back to his interrupted meal accompanied by a dozen members of his official party.

DALRYMPLE DECLARES HE'S NOT DONE YET

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition director for the central states, returned with his aides from Iron River today. The party had gone to Iron county in an effort to stamp alleged violations of the federal prohibition amendment.

NATIONAL PARK

Miss Thelma McMurrin, attired in her climbing costume.

Miss Thelma McMurrin is one of several Salt Lake City girls who expect to explore and climb the innermost recesses and heights of the New Zion National Park this spring and summer. Their costumes for the trip will include knickerbockers, woolen socks which will be pulled up over the knees, ankle-high boots, heavily hobnailed, woolen shirt and a soft buckskin coat.

which had been confiscated by them and which Major Dalrymple declared would be used in prosecution of various Iron county persons immediately upon his arrival here Dalrymple issued the following statement:

"We're going to attack in another sector. Washington called us off, or we would have come back with prisoners. And I still think we'll get them as soon as I have given all the facts to my superiors."

"Take it from me, that man McDonough is going to the penitentiary for what he has done. I'm not going to quit the fight until I've landed him in court or have been ordered by my superiors to drop the case."

"Because of orders I was powerless to move in Iron River. If I was sure that Mr. Gaylord was coming I would have stayed. If I find that he really is coming, I will wait for him in Chicago; otherwise I will go on to Washington tonight."

The major reiterated his charge that Martin McDonough, prosecutor of Iron county, Sheriff Robert Wilson and his deputies and the Iron River police have been "obstructing enforcement of the prohibition law."

"And what hurts me most" he added "is that District Attorney Walker in Grand Rapids has been playing their game."

GRANGES REQUEST
WILSON TO SIGN
RAILROAD BILL

Form Organizations Known
As "Big Six" Want Measure Signed As Piece of Constructive Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 26.—While the railroad bill is in the department of justice being scanned with reference to its validity, President Wilson is receiving various representations for and against his approval of the measure.

The latest was received last night by the "big six" organizations of farmers—the National Grange, National Farmers Union, Farm Congress, American Farm Bureau Federation, National Milk Producers Federation and Farm National Congress, reiterating the stand of several million agriculturalists against government ownership or operation of the railroads and urging that President Wilson sign the bill as a piece of constructive legislation.

On the other hand the Farmers' National Council sent a protest against the bill, asking for an appointment with the President to present reasons why that legislation advocated a veto.

Union labor also is unalterably opposed to the measure and is drafting a memorial urging that the President return it to congress.

White House officials indicated that action one way or the other would be taken by the President before the railroads return to private control March 1.

BROTHERHOODS ASK FOR VETO OF ESCH RAIL BILL

Washington, Feb. 23.—Representatives of the railroad brotherhoods called at the White House today to present a memorial to President Wilson urging that he veto the compromise railroad bill. They were joined by representatives of the farmers' National Council who supplemented a previous request for veto with written argument.

The visitors did not see the president but were received by Secretary Taft, who promised to lay the memorial and other documents before the executive.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 24.—Mike Prendergast, pitcher, recently purchased from the Philadelphia Nationals, has sent the Salt Lake City club word that he will not play professional baseball this season, it was announced today.

SPEAKER'S CALL TO ARMSMore Revenue Is Needed to Fight Bolshevism In America.

Cleveland, Feb. 26.—A call to arms against seditious organizations and Bolshevism was sounded today by the country's leading educators in various meetings of organizations affiliated with the National Education association in convention here.

Largest of the 2,000 delegates was divided between the perils of red radicalism and the need of the public schools for more revenues with which to fight Bolshevism and to enlarge the work of the schools.

At a general session this morning of the superintendents section 4,000 delegates wildly cheered an address of W. C. Bagley, professor of education of the teachers college, Columbia university, who urged immediate action by congress of the Smith-Towner bill, providing for a secretary of education in the President's cabinet and an annual federal school appropriation of $100,000,000.

At the conclusion of the address the delegates arose and voted in favor of the bill without a motion for a vote being made.

W. P. Burris, dean of the University of Cincinnati, spoke against the bill, saying that education must be removed from politics.

Community center meetings was discussed by the National Community association and sex education and hygiene by the American League of Physical Education meetings this morning.

An additional organization of teachers on a professional basis to offset the tendency of teachers groups to affiliate with labor was advocated by J. D. Coffman, dean of education, University of Minnesota at this morning's session of the department of superintendence.

This is the first time in the convention that the sentiment prevailing in many of the smaller group meetings has been openly pronounced in the general sessions.

"Affiliation of teachers with labor unions would be a blow at the foundation of democracy," he said, "for teachers owe their allegiance to public servants to the public and not to any one class. This allegiance would be divided and would open the way for class of education and a lowering of the professional standard and a loss of their public support by such affiliation."

"The major reiterated his charge that Martin McDonough, prosecutor of Iron county, Sheriff Robert Wilson and his deputies and the Iron River police have been "obstructing enforcement of the prohibition law."

"And what hurts me most" he added "is that District Attorney Walker in Grand Rapids has been playing their game."

ARMED MEN GUARD
WYOMING OIL FIELDS

Casper, Wyo., Feb. 26.—Armed guards last night patrolled the oil fields of the Salt Creek field, said to be the richest oil region in the Rocky Mountain states, to prevent claim jumping on the night after the day the federal land laws were enacted.

FLAG PEARY CARRIED TO POLE IS DRAPED OVER BODY AT BURIAL

Flag-draped casket bearing Admiral Peary's body being carried from his residence on Wyoming Ave. to artillery caisson.

With the nation's most distinguished statesmen, jurists and scientists paying him honor, Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the north pole, was buried at Arlington National cemetery, Washington. He was given a military funeral with full military and naval honors. The casket, during the trip from the Peary home to the cemetery, was draped with the American flag which Peary carried to the north pole after seven unsuccessful attempts to reach the "top of the world."

COLBY AND TREATY
ARE DENOUNCED
BY SENATOR REED

Renewal of Debate to Continue Until Paris Pact is Disposed of Brings Hot Words.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Another broadside of denunciations was loosed by irreconcilable opponents of the peace treaty today when the senate took up the subject under an agreement to keep it constantly under consideration until disposed of.

Senator Francis, Republican, Maryland, and Reed, Democrat, Missouri, led off for irreconcilables the former characterizing the treaty as an instrument of "hate and destruction" and the latter calling it a "serpent of treason."

The debate began after the senate had voted with only a few scattering "noes" to pass over Article 10 until action had been taken on all the other proposed reservations. The motion was made by Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, and although Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, one of the irreconcilables group, said he could not see the wisdom of delaying a decision, no roll call was demanded.

Senator Reed, presenting formally the resolution he offered several days ago for a declaration of peace, declared the reservation discussion had descended to "sophistry" and "mere quibbling over language." Neither the Republican nor Democratic reservationists proposed, he said, would materially modify the League of Nations.

The France resolution also provided for an international conference to consider the peace time army under the bill would be 300,000 enlisted men and 17,000 officers, including Philippine island scouts and assigned recruits. Aviation as a new factor in national defense is recognized, the making that service an arm coordinate with the infantry, cavalry and artillery. Other new services brought forth by the war either are abandoned or consolidated in the four arms.

Each of the four arms would be headed by a major general, the bill authorizing a total of 22 major generals, and 46 brigadier generals. Only one general is provided for. The officer commissioned to that rank now as General Pershing and the bill provides that the rank shall cease to exist when a vacancy exists.

Liberal provisions are made for the national guard and reserve officers training corps and citizens on the reserve.

WOOD ALCOHOL KILLS FOURTH TOLEDO VICTIM

Toledo, Feb. 26.—Wood alcohol claimed its fourth victim here today, when Alfred Sauer, 40 years old, was found dead in his room in a hotel. A bottle half filled with the poisonous liquor was found beside his body. The man's home address is not known to the police.

NEWFOUNDLAND DOG MAY GIVE LIFE TO SAVE MASTER FROM BURGLARS

New York, Feb. 26.—Every effort was being made today to save the life of "Prince," a big Newfoundland dog shot by holdup men when he went to the aid of his master, Martin Matarch, a restaurant keeper.

When two armed men ordered Matarch to "throw up his hands" the dog entered from an adjoining room and leaped on the intruders as one fired a shot which grazed Matarch's wrist. One of the bandits was thrown to the floor but freed himself from the dog's hold by shooting him through the stomach. Both then fled.

SEIZE TWO STILLS AND $10,000 WORTH BOOZE

Cleveland, Feb. 26.—Two 50 gallon stills, 287 boxes of raisins, 15 crates of prunes, 231 boxes of marsh and ten gallons of raisin which valued at between $10,000 and $15,000 were seized by police in a raid on a private dwelling this morning. One man was arrested and turned over to federal authorities.

Washington, Feb. 26.—George W. P. Hunt, of Arizona, was nominated today by President Wilson to be minister to Spain.

FIFTY POOR POKER
PLAYERS, 25 AND NOT
ONE WON A CENT

Zanesville, Feb. 26.—Local poker players—and it is said there are quite a few—were certainly not artists of the game, according to their income tax returns filed with N. E. Beck, income tax deputy, in the federal building. Local "Knights of the Chips" in complying with the ruling of Commissioner Roper, Washington, D. C., must pay taxes on their "winnings" during the past year, but cannot deduct their losses from their net incomes. According to Mr. Beck, at least 25 local confessed poker players filed returns with him during the past week. Some said they were "in the hole," others that they "broke even," but not one of the 25 admitted that they had won a cent during the past year.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Its provision for universal military training eliminated, the house army reorganization bill laying down the general principles on which the nation's military establishment would be based, was ready today for presentation.

The maximum peace time army under the bill would be 300,000 enlisted men and 17,000 officers, including Philippine island scouts and assigned recruits. Aviation as a new factor in national defense is recognized, the making that service an arm coordinate with the infantry, cavalry and artillery. ## LEGION POST TO SEEK BIG PRIZE

Stand of Colors, Offered by State Headquarters in Contest Is Wanted by Newark War Veterans.

Newark Post, American Legion, will enter the statewide contest for the stand of colors offered by the state department headquarters in Columbus for the Ohio post winning the contest for the new members which will close April 6.

The stand of colors will include an American flag and a post flag. Secondary prizes of gavel will be offered others making a good showing in the contest.

The Newark post has already started a vigorous campaign and a meeting of the post will be held tonight to discuss the details of the campaign and to organize the teams for the contest.

The legion headquarters in Columbus is preparing lists of names, with home addresses of all the men who were in the Selective Army the 37th Division and the Rainbow Division. These amounts to about 120,000 men. Department headquarters will circulate all of the names on these lists and the names by localities will be furnished to each local organization. In counties which are organized by having a County Council, these lists will then be assigned to various posts in those counties by the County Council. In counties in which there is no County Council the lists for each community will be forwarded directly from Department Headquarters to the local Post. Each local Post will organize itself into competitive teams and divide the names which it receives among these teams which will compete with one another to secure membership by calling personally upon the persons who are eligible.

As a member of the team, a friend urged me, and I tried it. From the first, I commenced to feel better. I have now taken seven bottles and am feeling fine. Have no cough or bronchial trouble, have regained my flesh and strength and am doing all the work for a family of seven. I never felt better in my life.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

SYNDICALISM THREATENS TO ENTER RAIL STRIKE

Paris, Feb. 26.—Syndicalism threatens to appear in the French railway strike situation which is very grave. It demands that all railways be nationalized and that the strike leaders who continue their efforts to staminate all railroad workers in the country into the strike, which began with the walkout of the employees of the Paris, Lyon and Mediterranean system. In the provinces the movement is looked upon as voluntarily instead of professional of the officials according to the Echo de Paris.

All arrangements to ignore the delivery of food supplies to the city have been made by the government and municipal officials have taken similar steps. The question of placing the railroads under military control is being considered, but such a move would be impossible in the absence of Premier Millerand.

WILLARD HEADS B. & O. SYSTEM

Before leaving for Russia, he was general manager of the Great Northern railway. All of the officers chosen now are endorsed either by the corporation or by the federal railroad administration in operation of the road.

FREIGHT CAR BROKE AWAY

Peculiar Happening Hailed as Something Particularly New in History of Railroad.

The Erie railroad has demonstrated the practicability of a theory that a freight train may lose a car from its midair and keep to its schedule with its crew in ignorance of their loss, and El Mott, of Goshen, the local historian, is happy.

For a generation Mott has been telling folks of an Erie train that left Susquehanna in the winter of 1855 with 15 cars of cattle. At Port Jarvis one car was missing. It had disappeared from the middle of the train without leaving broken couplings or other traces of the manner of its ejection. Two days later the missing car was found in a field near the track at Shohola. It was empty. The cattle it had held were recovered in Sullivan county, New York. They had freed themselves from the car and crossed the Delaware river on the ice.

Engineer Albert O. Roberts was driving a train to New York last Sunday morning. At West Tuxedo air brake trouble led to the discovery that the fourteenth car was missing. The thirteenth and fifteenth cars had recoupled themselves. Search led to the discovery of the missing car alongside the track a mile to the north.

The accident of Sunday was exactly the same as the one which Mott describes as of sixty-odd years ago, except that the modern form of brake caused the loss of a car to be discovered more quickly than was the case in the old days, when the couplings were of simple design and the brakes were operated by hand.—New Haven Union.

GOOD EXERCISE IS MOTORING

Physician Seems to Have Made Out a Good Case for His Side of Argument.

Dr. Henry Williams, in an article in Motors, combats the theory that motoring is reducing our opportunities for exercise. He says its benefits are threefold—physical, mental and volitional. The buffeting of winds and the inhalation of large quantities of oxygen stimulate digestion, assimilation and excretion. This is true of the person who merely sits, as well as of him who drives. The latter, however, benefits directly. Doctor Williams says: "When you drive a car 40 or 50 miles over average American roads, or a fraction of that distance in any city, you give your arms and torso a course of purposeful calisthenics that rounds directly to the benefit of your muscles and arteries and heart, and indirectly, but no less significantly, to the benefit of your digestive organs of elimination as well as the nervous system."

Another Statue.
With the unveiling of the figure of Gen. William Shepherd in the community of Westfield, Mass., a worthy figure is added to the American population of revolutionary heroes whose memory is perpetuated by a public statue. General Shepherd, before the Revolution, had taken part in the "Old French war," which justified Macaulay in saying that because Frederick the Great had decided to rob a neighbor, "red men scalped each other by the great lakes of North America." He began as a private soldier and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel under Washington, and later commanded a brigade under Lafayette. Individuals have sometimes questioned the utility of public statues; yet in this case, as in many another, the statue defeats the common forgetfulness of past deeds that has found expression in the old saying, "Out of sight out of mind."

No More Pups.
A little friend of mine who lives next door has been teasing his mother for a puppy. Knowing the destructive habits of such animals, she has firmly refused to let him have one. At last he persuaded her to let him borrow one for half a day to show her that a puppy knew enough to properly behave himself. Being warned that he must watch the puppy every minute it was in the house, the little chap for a time was careful to keep his eye on it; but, finally tiring of such vigilance, he relaxed his attention only to give the puppy the chance it had been waiting for. It improved it to the full by chewing to pieces one of his most cherished Christmas toys. This was too much for the young host. "Good night," he exclaimed, "no more pups for me; I'll get me a 10 year old dog."—Exchange.

The Artistic Temperament.
The landlady announced that a well-known humorist and cartoonist was to join us at our boarding house and we all had expectations of meeting a jolly good fellow who would drive dull care away. When he arrived he insisted on having a small table by himself, and instead of drawing his chair up to the table always drew the table to him, eating facing the wall, with his back to the guests, and declined to meet anyone. All in all he was a sad character to gaze upon and a great disappointment to the guests.—Exchange.

"Mark Him Duty."
Wealthy Patient.—Oh, doctor, I have such a bad cold. I can't go to the office this morning. Can't you do something for it?
Ex-Army Medic (just out)—Get out of here! Don't you see I'm busy? There isn't anything the matter with you. You gold brick.—The Home Sector.

American Women Stirred by Armenian Horrors

"MERCIFUL GOD, it's all true! Nobody has ever told the whole truth! Nobody could!"

Thus Eleanor Franklin Egan, in the Saturday Evening Post, quotes Howard Heinz of Pittsburgh, Herbert Hoover's representative in the Near East, on the real conditions in Armenia as he saw them with his own eyes.

Mr. Heinz had been one of those who had believed the stories of starvation and death in Armenia had been exaggerated. Not until he went himself to the Caucasus did his views change. Then he was shaken to the foundation of his soul by what he saw. "Fearful! Awful! Horrible! Unbelievable!" are some of the adjectives Mrs. Egan says must be used in speaking of conditions in the Near East, where Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York, supported by contributions from the American people, is conducting the only organized effort to save the lives of these utterly destitute millions. Everything she saw and heard justified the necessity for quick and generous aid from America. Her story of what she witnessed reinforces the call of the Near East Relief for aid for stricken Armenia.

"The Hunger grin" is everywhere evident," Mrs. Egan writes. "The pitiful hundreds seemed to me to be weeping constantly. Not profoundly as in grief, but whimperingly, appealingly as in unbearable physical distress. A terrible population. Unbearably filthy and tattered in their shreds; shelterless, death stricken throngs milling from place to place, children crying aloud, women sobbing in broken inarticulate lamentation; men utterly hopeless and reduced to staggering weakness, heedless of the tears rolling down their dirt-streaked faces."

That is her picture of the Armenians most in evidence in Armenia. These are the throngs. Then she turns to the mobs. "Large numbers here and there, wide-eyed, eager, hands outstretched in wolfish supplication; teeth bared in a ghastly grin that had long since ceased to smile—an emaciated skin-stretched grin, fixed and uncontrollable."

"Is it any wonder," she asks, "that I could not swallow my food? I threw it to the children in the ravaging hordes and started small riots. The children fought together, snarled and clawed at one another for small bits of army biscuit or morsels of bully beef."

"And then I was told that many of them were so starved that solid food

"The starvation grin," so common in Armenia, as described by Mrs. Egan in her article.

was likely to kill them instantly. This was too terribly true. Yet in the whole length and breadth of the land there was not an ounce of food of the kind necessary for such cases. At Kars I saw one man die with bread in his teeth. And if you will consent to look with me upon a too awful thing I will add that he showed evidence of having eaten too much grass.

"I went hungry in Armenia, and I associate remembered pangs of my own with all my recollections of the terrible land. I had plenty of food with me, but for days on end I could not eat. It was a physical impossibility."

"And I came to a point, too, when to look upon things that had to be looked upon set my heart to quaking in a horror difficult to describe."

Of her first sight in Armenia of the terrible condition of the people Mrs. Egan writes of the scenes on her way to Kars:

"Everywhere in the fields there were people down on their knees searching for grasses to eat. Those near the railroad lifted their heads and gazed at our train as it rushed past, and I caught glimpses of terrible faces. An old man sitting at the top of an embankment waved a handful of grass at me where I stood at the car window, then threw his head back and laughed a maniacal laugh. I began then to feel the cold chills with which I was to shiver for days on end."

Of Kars she writes: "It had been raining for days, and wherever one looked one saw nothing but misery and mud. Between the railroad tracks were unsightly pools and puddles, through which many human scare-crows trudged back and forth."

"They were a multiple Lazarus, and the train was the rich man's table. They were begging for crumbs. I began to hear for the first time the whining indescribable phrase that sounded to me like 'O-na-ne, O-na-ne.' It was so feebly, so plaintively murmured, 'O-na-ne.'"

Mrs. Egan asked what it meant and was told the nearest equivalent was "Oh, my soul!" "But," she says, "it was more than that; it was a prayer for mercy."

Describing a makeshift hospital before the arrival of the Near East Relief workers, Mrs. Egan writes:

"The sick in their unbelievable rags were lying around on the floors—bundles of unimaginable wretchedness. The doctor was not doing anything at all for them. What could he do? He had not so much as a single ounce of medicine of any kind. The little people were more pitiable than the adults. The ward, if I may call it that, had in it not one stick of furniture of any kind, and the children were all lying on the dusty and rubbish-strewn floor with nothing under them and no covering save the rags they wore."

"It Is Not Very Nice to Starve," Says Little Guest From Armenia

IRANEH ESTHER ARAXIE AZGABETIAN.

I AM little Armenian girl. I have three years. My name has a history as long as the tail of a cat. I am called Iraneh Esther Araxie Azgabetian.

Iraneh, because I was born at Kars, in Persia, and that is a good Persian name. Near the Red Cross hut where I first opened my eyes was the tomb of Esther and Mordecai, so my father also named me Esther. Then, being a good Armenian, I had to have the name of our beloved river Arax. Therefore I am Araxie.

My father is General Mesrop Nerton, khan Azgabetian. He was with an army in the Caucasus mountains during the Great War. We were living just inside the city wall. I could hear the jackals at night howling, howling all the time. I howled too. My nurse said the jackals set me a bad example. My first nurse was a great big soldier. He belonged to the Russian army, which was encamped near us.

My mother tells me that she paid five roubles a day (that is $2.50 in American money) for half a loaf of bread. The bread was often full of dirt and splinters. One fine day my father found a can of condensed milk

This little Armenian has a name with a "history as long as the tail of a cat," she says. Daughter of a famous soldier, she often cried from hunger. Now she is in America and does not cry any more, she naively adds, but her mother cries, mourning for the thousands of other Armenian babies who are hungry, back in the native land. But little Iraneh smiles wisely, as she knows Near East Relief is aiding the poor people of Armenia.

AID GOD'S POOR, SAYS MRS. DANIELS

By MRS. JOSEPHUS DANIELS,
Wife of the Secretary of the Navy.

THE plight of the people of Armenia presents a tragedy inconceivable. Hundreds of thousands of the descendants of the earliest Christian race are now, because of their religion, undergoing sufferings beyond the imagination of civilized America.

During the war it is estimated that 1,000,000 Armenians, a third of the total population, were massacred. No barbarity in human history exceeds the gross cruelty of that destruction. Thousands were driven out upon the desert, there to die from hunger and thirst under the pitiless rays of a tropical sun.

Such was the price which the Armenian people paid for their Christianity and their loyalty to the cause of justice and democracy during the world war.

One-quarter of a million children, chiefly orphans, whose parents perished in massacres, are utterly dependent on American charity.

Hundreds of thousands of refugees in the Caucasus, clad only in torn, verminous rags, without shelter and without food, can exist only if America has compassion upon them.

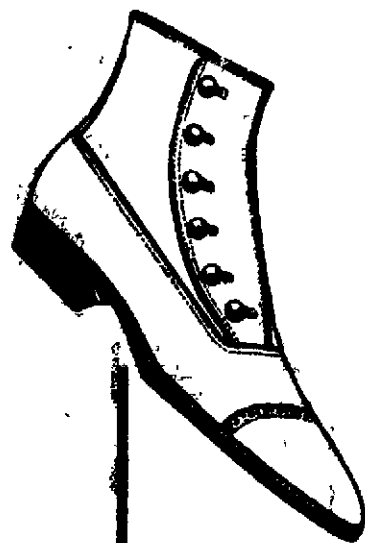

Shall we fail them? Not if I know my country!

Help Near East Relief in its work for God's poor.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Pain Stops to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to sell to every rheumatic sufferer in this country that if two bottles of Allenbur's, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge or rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenbur's has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Allenbur's relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvellous how quickly it acts. Bleeding relief often comes in two days and even in cases where the suffering is most painful, all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James P. Allen, the discoverer of Allenbur's, for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism. He desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenbur's decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed Evans' Drug Store to guarantee it in every instance.—Advt.

(By Willie Gett)
Chapter VI.
What fiendish management behind this train.
With but one minute all to lose or gain.
In Chap. V, our desolate heroine was left, sitting dejected on a cold fire plug, hope entirely gone. Little did the indiff. watchman know nor care that too lives depended upon action, quick and plenty.

"Oh, kind sir," begged Beulah, "for the sweet sake of your own wife and several small children, I beg you, assist me, that I may reach my poor father's grave all is lost."

"Nix, kid," gruffly grunted the indiff. man, grinning crookedly at our brave heroine. "I ain't married an' I don't own this here road. Beat it!"

"Have you no mercy," moaned our unfortunate Beulah. But one minute left!

What should she do? Ah, she has it. With the agility of a kitten, she scaled the side of the R. R. car and poised for the final spring to safety.

In a swift revealing flash Beulah's her of an onrushing train. The heretofore indiff. watchman now shouts to Beulah to jump e'er all is lost, the while covering his eyes with his ruff hands to shut out the sight from view.

The next instance she sprang far into the air and landed, miraculously unharmed, on the other side of the barrier, only one 2nd e'er the lightning express dashed past.

She stopped long enough to powder her face and use her lip stick. Beulah sped to the butcher shop. The town clock strikes one! two! She leaps across the threshold! The clock strikes three! four! She enters the dim room with one supreme effort, just as the town clock booms five.

There before her eyes she beholds a scene which causes her to utter a stifling scream—the butcher with his knife poised ready to plunge into the heart of her aged father.

Did You Know
That West Virginia owes its existence to the secession of Virginia at the beginning of the civil war? A convention of the thirty-nine counties met to protest against the ordinance and proposed that a new state, called Kanawha, should be organized; the two State legislatures then in session, the loyal one at Alexandria, consented to the separation; so with a different name from that contemplated, West Virginia came into the Union June 20, 1863. Arthur J. Boreman was the first governor of West Virginia.

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grew apart while the man was off to war.

LXXXII.—Facing a Dilemma.

Keitha stared at Marcia's pretty pale face while a slow realization of the horrid dilemma dawned in her conscience.

The little slip of yellow paper, filed two weeks before in Paris and bearing its poignant message, lay fluttering in the California breeze at their feet. Marcia, dainty and delicate, with every mark of Parisian breeding, sat staring at the paper. What a contrast to the family she had so skillfully etched and to which she was bound by the ties of marriage.

Keitha looked down on the beach where the blue waves of the Pacific curled lazily in. The plot of vivid orange against the mauve sands was Mademoiselle Forester, fiancée of this black clad girl's husband, who had come across half the world to seek him, while he hid from some shameful motive in France.

What a horrible dilemma it was and how would it ever end, thought Keitha. How simple her own domestic fiasco was by comparison. Of what little moment were Lester's numerous flirtations. In a swift revealing flash Keitha realized even the unimportance of her own soul struggle with regard and to the relinquishing of her work.

It was such pigmy trouble compared to Marcia's and the tragedy that confronted the trio! Marcia, Mademoiselle Forester and Tasker Bland Holmes. "What am I going to do," whispered Marcia. "It may be too late to do anything. This message was mailed to me instead of being wired. But anyway, if Tasker's father will not hear me, what can I do? I haven't $5,000 in the world."

Keitha thought swiftly. "Perhaps Lester—" she began. "Oh no, no," cried Marcia quickly.

REORGANIZATION COMMITTEE.

With much acclaim the late general assembly established a committee on reorganization of the State Government and without batting an eye delivered into the state treasury for $30,000 which the committee has spent. As one writer puts it: "The reorganization of State Government Committee was a prize joke from the start. With the city fairly sagging beneath the weight of experienced governmental experts, certified accountants, auditors and investigators, this crew had nothing else to do but import a mass of high-living theoreticians one of whom worked six days or so as City Manager in a small Michigan city before the residents handed him his hat."

Furthermore this committee put numerous professional politicians on its pay roll and even had the effrontery to employ a press agent to herald its discoveries to the eagerly waiting public.

Nothing worth while was suggested. Nothing was done. But $30,000 of the state's money has been squandered in the futile hope of getting some political capital to aid in the coming election.

Furthermore the appointment of the committee, with duties purely administrative, is in direct violation of the constitution, but one is not likely to form the impression that the constitution was worrying the majority leadership very much during some thirteen months of sessions and recesses.

When the bill of expense for the late general assembly is rendered the tax paying public of the state will emit more groans of anguish.

PEARY'S EXPLORATIONS IN THE FAR NORTH

BY GILBERT GROSVENOR
President of the National Geographic Society

It has been my privilege to know Admiral Peary intimately for 20 years, and I find it difficult to express my admiration and affection for his personal qualities, the bigness of his heart and personality, his loyal devotion to his friends, his rugged integrity and his love for everything American.

The struggle for the North Pole began nearly one hundred years before the landing of the Puritan Fathers at Plymouth Rock, being inaugurated (1527) by that king of many distinctions, Henry VIII of England.

Scores of hardy navigators, British, French, Dutch, German, Scandinavian and Russian, followed Davis, all seeking to new across the Pole the much-coveted short route to China and the Indies. The rivalry was keen and costly in lives, ships, and treasure, but from the time of Henry VIII for three and one-half centuries, or until 1882 (with the exception of 1594-1606, when, through Wm. Barents, the Dutch held the record) Great Britain's flag was always waving nearest the top of the globe.

Immense treasures of money and lives were expended by the nations to explore the northern ice world and to attain the apex of the earth. But all failed, for the Pole failed to yield its standing the unlimited sacrifice of gold and energy and blood which had been poured out without stint for nearly four centuries.

A brief summer excursion to Greenland in 1882 aroused Robert E. Peary, a civil engineer in the United States navy, to an interest in the polar problem. Peary a few years previously had been graduated from Bowdoin college second in class, a position of honor which means unusual mental vigor in an institution which is noted for the fine scholarship and intellect of its alumni. He realized at once that the goal which had eluded so many hundreds of ambitious and dauntless men could be won only by a method of attack.

The first arctic problem with which Peary grappled was considered at that time in importance second only to the quest for the Pole, namely, to determine the insularity of Greenland and the extent of its projection northward. At the very beginning of his first expedition to Greenland, in 1891, he suffered an accident, which, severely taxed his patience as well as his body, and which is mentioned here as it illustrates the grit and stamina of his moral and physical make-up. As his ship, the Kitts, was working its way through the ice fields off of Greenland shore, a cable of ice became wedged in the rudder, causing the wheel to reverse. One of the spokes jammed Peary's leg against the casement, making it impossible to extricate himself until both Peary and the Kitts were broken.

The party urged him to return to the United States for the winter to resume his exploration the following year. But Peary insisted on being landed as originally planned at McCormick Bay, stating that the money of his friends could be best invested in the project and that he must "make good" to them.

trying period, by sledging feats which in distance and physical obstacles overcame exceeded the extraordinary records made in Greenland, he explored and mapped hundreds of miles of coast line of Greenland and of the islands west and north of Greenland.

On the next attempt, Peary insured reaching the polar ocean by designing and constructing the Roosevelt, whose resiliant frame crushed its way to the desired haven on the shores of the polar sea. From here he made that wonderful march of 1906 to 87 degrees, 6 minutes, a new world's record. Winds of unusual fury, by opening big leads, robbed him of the Pole and nearly of his life.

The last Peary expedition 1908-1909 resulted in the discovery of the Pole and of the deep ocean surrounding it. The 396 miles from Greeley's farthest had been vanquished as follows: 1900, 33 miles; 1902, 23 miles; 1906, 169 miles; 1908, 174 miles.

No better proof of the minute care with which every campaign was prearranged can be given than the fact that, though Peary has taken hundreds of men north with him on his various expeditions, he has brought them all back in good health, with the exception of two, who lost their lives in accidents for which the leader was in no wise responsible. What a contrast this record is to the long list of fatalities from disease, frost, shipwreck and starvation in the popular mind has made the word arctic synonyms with tragedy and death.

Thus Robert E. Peary crowned a life devoted to the exploration of the key north and to the advancement of the hard-won discovery of the North Pole. The prize of four centuries of striving yielded at last to the most persistent and scientific attack ever waged against it. Peary's success was made possible by long experience, which gave him a thorough knowledge of the difficulties to be overcome, and by an unusual combination of mental and physical power—a resourcefulness which enabled him to find a way to surmount all obstacles, a tenacity and courage which knew no defeat and a physical endowment such as nature gives to few men.

It has been well said that the glory of Peary's achievement belongs to the world and is shared by all mankind. But we his fellow-countrymen who have known how he struggled these many years against discouragement and scoffing and how he persevered under financial burdens that would have crushed less stalwart shoulders, specially rejoice that he "made good at last" and that an American has become the peer of Hudson, Magellan and Columbus.

Peary's first address to the National Geographic Society was in the fall of 1888, when the Society was only a few years old. He then described an expedition which he had led across Nicaragua. He has been actively associated with its work ever since those early days, and on his return from each of his expeditions to the far north, his first address was to the National Geographic Society. His last public appearance was on the platform of the National Geographic Society when in January, 1919, he introduced Stefansson, who had just returned from the Canadian north.

In 1907 he was presented the Hubbard Gold Medal of the Society by President Roosevelt, and in 1909 a special Gold Medal for his discovery of the North Pole and later was a member of its board of managers for years.

Picturesque New Zealand.

New Zealand is a land of mountains, gorges, rivers and fjords. The higher peaks of the south island are eternally snow capped and the glaciers of its southern Alps rival those of Switzerland. The surrounding seas are too cold for corals. Among the mountains of the north island volcanic fires are still active and the geysers and hot springs are little less impressive than those of the Yellowstone park.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.
Here's an easy way to save $2, and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan for making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep home without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. ### HEBRON

This spring outfit combines qualities for southern as well as northern sports wear. The skirt is of black and white checked velour with box pleatings combined with accordin pleats at the sides. The coat is black velvet and is trimmed with facings of the checked material. Black walking oxfords and wool hose complete the costume.

Egg-Eating Snakes.

A queer African species of snake, which lives on eggs, has a toothlike spike projecting downward from its backbone, just behind the head, which is tipped with enamel. When it swallows an egg the latter passes down the gullet until it encounters the spike, which breaks the shell. Thus no part of the fluid contents is lost, as would be the case if the snake were obliged to bite the egg with its mouth-fangs.

Cement for China.

Mix a cupful of milk with a cupful of vinegar; separate yolk from whites with the whites of five eggs, beating the whole thoroughly together. When it is well mixed sift in a little quicklime and stir until it is of the consistency of thick paste. With this broken china, glass and cracks of all kinds may be mended. It dries quickly and resists the action of water and heat.

COMMERCE HIGH TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

An extra basketball game, not included in the regular schedule which was concluded several days ago, will be played Friday night at 7:30 o'clock by the Newark high school squad with Commerce high of Columbus as the opposing team.

This game will be the last before Newark high enters the high school tournament staged by Ohio Wesleyan. The tournament opens March 5 and the first round of play will include games played March 6.

Newark basketball followers believe the team will make a good showing in the tournament as well as in the game against Commerce. The Mt. Vernon game was the only contest in which the team presented its full strength and the game was won handily. Mt. Vernon then defeated a strong Columbus team. Commerce stands second in the inter-scholastic race in Columbus.

WILL CLOSE CONTRACT FOR HALLADAY CARS

The Halladay Motors corporation is about to close a contract with a distributing company in New York for the sale of six cars a day for a period of two years. Thomas E. Huth, president of the company, left Wednesday evening for New York to confer with W. H. Cooney, head of the New York concern. The cars are for distribution in New York state and in the New England states. According to the Halladay company Mr. Cooney is also negotiating for cars for the export trade.

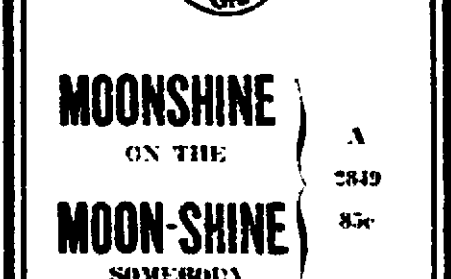

If the contract with the company which Mr. Cooney represents is closed, it will bring into Newark about $36,000,000 a year as a six day contract means 1800 cars a year.

Reed, Chaplain O. S. P. In another column of this paper, Fenberg has an ad which will explain his method in gathering magazines etc.

EAST MAIN C. B. REVIVAL.

More than sixty young folks surrendered themselves to the Lord last night at the East Main Street U. B. church. The altar was crowded and conviction was deep and pungent. Dr. Williams' message on "The Plain Trail" was plain and simple and carried conviction to the hearts of the large audience. The prayer meeting was a success and the young folks were admonished to be on the alert for any who would endeavor to destroy their faith in Jesus Christ. The most beautiful scene was witnessed at the closing when, teachers and pupils knelt in prayer and sang "How Great Thou Art." The prayer meeting was a success and the young folks were admonished to be on the alert for any who would endeavor to destroy their faith in Jesus Christ. The most beautiful scene was witnessed at the closing when, teachers and pupils knelt in prayer and sang "How Great Thou Art." Come, a reserved seat for you. Come early 7:15.

If Your Nerves are Shattered by Worry, Overwork, Over Indulgence or by Excesses of Any Kind Evans Triple Phosphates are What You Need Right Away.

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Seldom Removes The Poisonous Deposits.

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention. Backache, for instance, puffiness under or specks floating before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals. Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, "and I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble about my prescription, Marshroot, which, during my active practice, has caused thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments." This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name Dr. Carey's Marshroot, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember. # INCOME TAX RETURNS DUE

Business Men, Farmers and Wage Workers Must File Schedules of Income for 1919.

MARCH 15 LAST FILING DATE.

Net Incomes of $1,000 or Over, if Single; or $2,000 or Over if Married, Must Be Reported.

The Income Tax imposed by Act of Congress on earnings of the year 1919 is now being collected.

Returns under oath must be made on or before March 15 by every citizen and resident who had a net income for 1919 amounting to:

$1,000 or over, if single; or if married and living apart from wife (or husband); or if widowed or divorced, $2,000 or over, if married and living with wife (or husband).

The status of the person on the last day of the year fixes the status for the year with respect to the above requirements.

Under any of these circumstances a return must be made, even though no tax is due.

Husband and wife must consider the income of both, plus that of dependent minor children, in meeting this requirement; and, if sufficient to require a return, all items must be shown in a joint return or in separate returns of husband and wife.

A single person with minor dependents must include the income of such dependents.

A minor who has a net income of $1,000 or more is not considered a dependent, and must file a separate return.

Personal returns should be made on Form 1040A, unless the net income exceeded $5,000, in which case Form 1040 should be used.

Residents of Ohio should send returns and payments to the Collectors of Internal Revenue at the nearest of these cities: Cincinnati, Toledo, Columbus, or Cleveland.

How to Figure Income.
The best way to find out whether one must file a return is to get a Form 1040A and follow the instructions printed on it. That form will serve as a reminder of every item of income, and if a return is due it tells how to prepare and file it.

If in doubt on any point as to income or deductions, a person may secure free advice and aid from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

Guesswork, estimates and other hit-or-miss methods are barred when a person is making out his Income Tax return. Accuracy and completeness must be insisted upon. The return is a sworn statement. As such it must be thorough and accurate.

Salaried persons and wage earners must ascertain the actual compensation received. Overtime, bonuses, shares in the profits of a business, value of quarters and board furnished by the employer and other items which are compensations for services must be included.

It must be borne in mind that compensation may be paid in other forms than in cash. A bonus paid in Liberty Bonds is taxable at the market value of the bonds. A note received in payment for services is taxable income at its face value, and the interest upon it is also taxable.

Other Returns Due.
Every partnership doing business in the United States must file a return on Form 1065; and every personal service corporation must file a similar return.

Corporations must file annual returns on Form 1120.

Trustees, executors, administrators and others acting in a fiduciary capacity are required to file returns. In some cases, Form 1041 is used; in others, Form 1040; and still others, returns on both forms are required.

Information returns, on Forms 1099 and 1086, must be filed by every organization, firm or person who paid, during 1919, an amount of $1,000 in salary, wages, interest, rent, or other fixed or determinable income to another person, partnership, personal service corporation or fiduciary. These information returns should be forwarded directly to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue (sorting division), Washington, D. C.

INCOME TAX IN NUTSHELL

WHO—Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more for the year 1919.

WHERE—Collector of Internal Revenue for District in which the person resides.

WHAT—Four per cent normal tax on taxable income up to $4,000 in excess of exemption. Eight per cent normal tax on balance of taxable income. Sur-tax, from one per cent to sixty-five per cent on net incomes over $5,000.

Neighbors went to the assistance of the mother, Mrs. Ed Wright, taking the initiative. ### DISCUSSES FIVE QUESTIONS.

The stormy weather had no effect on the fine audiences that are assembling each evening at the Central Church of Christ.

The spacious auditorium of the church was comfortably filled again last night.

The singing, too, led by the chorus choir, continues of a high order and lent enthusiasm to the services.

Arrangements are shaping up for a big mass meeting for all men of the city Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

This bank encourages such accounts for farm wives, and it is glad to receive them and to help women the same as it does men in the use of its banking facilities that it offers to their husbands. Many women do not know what to do with their butter and egg money. Deposit it with us! And incidentally, you may rapidly increase the amount by following the instructions to be found weekly in the poultry and vegetable and dairy and beekeeping and fruit pages of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. Let us send in your subscription for a year of the Great National Farm Weekly—52 big, interesting issues for only $1.00—and then watch the bank account grow!
